Tonawanda, NY 14150

August 5, 6pm The 11th Hour

Influential experts including: Mikhail Gorbachev, Stephan Hawking, and sustainable-design expert William McDonough reveal the critical state of life on our planet. Will the world's population employ break-through technologies and change our behavior to save our species? The crisis is here now, but so are the solutions to turn humankind's darkest hour into it's finest.

August 12, 6pm The Island President

Mohamed Nasheed became the Maldives' first democratically elected president in 2008. The Island President chronicles his 1st year in office, much of which was devoted to combatting climate change- which for 400,000 people who have inhabited the low-lying islands for thousands of yeas is a life-and-death issue.

August 19, 6pm Everything's Cool

For the past two decades researchers, activists, scientists, and progressive politicians have struggled to rouse the public and the federal government to take action on global warming. Concurrently, naysayers, industry funded think-tanks and lobbyists have worked tirelessly to challenge, convolute and dismiss the issue. Everything's Cool tells the harrowing story of what it takes to talk about global warming -- the art of duking it out with collective denial, the struggle to communicate the urgency of the crisis to an indifferent public and the United States government.
